“ Occasionally, as a young woman growing up, you will meet a woman that you will aspire to be. If you are very fortunate you will be able to spend some time with her, have conversation, share laughter, and walk away each time a better person. I am that young woman that is forever changed by having known Mrs. Grimm. Her grace, poise and gentle nature are without equal. As I was viewing the tribute I consider myself honored to know her and once again see her smile. A smile that transcends a computer screen and lights up the room. I will carry that light with me forever.
